MINAS AND KOHAR TÖLÖLYAN PRIZE FOR CONTEMPORARY LITERATURE
(HAMAZKAYIN Armenian Educational & Cultural Society, Eastern USA)

Preamble

The Minas and Kohar Tölölyan Prize for Contemporary Literature (henceforth, MKPCL or The Prize) was established in 2012, on the initiative of the Hamazkayin Armenian Educational and Cultural Society of the Eastern USA, with a donation by Mr. and Mrs. Edward and Vergine Misserlian of San Francisco, to commemorate and honor the remarkable achievements of the now deceased couple in the fields of Armenian literary criticism and pedagogy.

The Prize is administered by the Eastern USA Regional Executive Board of the Hamazkayin Armenian Educational and Cultural Society, pursuant to the adjudication of a specially assigned jury.

Purpose

The purpose of MKPCL is to recognize and encourage significant new literary work created and published in North America by individuals with Armenian heritage or non-Armenian individuals writing about Armenian topics. Poetry, prose, drama, translation, as well as creative non-fiction with a literary bent (memoir, journalism, essays, and literary criticism) may all be presented as candidates.

Frequency of the Prize

The Prize will be awarded once a year. In years when the jury determines that there is no entry of sufficient merit, no award will be granted. In the next year, two Prizes may be granted. The winning submission will be announced by the Regional Executive of Hamazkayin Armenian Educational and Cultural Society of Eastern USA.

Award

The awardee will also receive $2,500. (The recipient of the Prize will be responsible for all taxes). If a work by more than one author wins, the amount will be equally distributed among them.

Languages

The submissions may be in Armenian, English, French and Spanish.

The Author

The author may be an Armenian or non-Armenian residing in North America.

The author must be 18 or older, or have the permission of parent(s)/guardian(s) to submit.

Members of the jury of MKPCL and Hamazkayin Eastern USA Executive Board or members of their immediate families may not be candidates for the Prize.

Deadline

Submission must be received by MKPCL by the date announced by the Eastern Regional Executive of Hamazkayin Armenian Educational and Cultural Society.

Format

The submissions may be:

- a. Electronic (pdf format)
- b. Physical volume (5 – five – copies) - Not desirable

Address

Electronic: tololyan_award@hamazkayin-usa.org

Entry Form

The entrant must complete the MKPCL Entry Form (see attached) together with the submission.

The Work Submitted

All published submissions must have been issued in the year preceding the announcement of the Prize.

Handwritten manuscripts are not accepted.

Each unpublished submission must be type-written in size 12 fonts and double-spaced.

Word count:

- a. Poetry: no less than 5,000 words
- b. Prose: no less than 10,000 words
- c. Word count excludes titles. Only the original content of the submission is counted, which excludes paratextual matter such as dedications. Any term containing a hyphen ("twenty-five") or an apostrophe ("can't", "don't") counts as a single word. Every article ("the", "a", etc.) counts as a separate word. Groups of characters (e.g. "xxx") as well as symbols count as a word.

The submission must have a literary disposition (that is, the Prize may not be awarded to works of historiography, politics, economics, social sciences, etc.). In the case of non-Armenian entrants, the submission needs to explore an Armenian theme.

A “work” may mix literary genres. That is, prose works may have poems embedded in them, or works of literary criticism may include portions of short stories or lyrics, etc.

Owners retain the copyright of the work submitted.

The entrant (author, publisher, or otherwise) is responsible for validating the authorship of the submission, if necessary.

Only one work by an author (or co-authors) may be submitted in a given year.

The physical copies of any submission are not returned.

MKPCL is not liable for any type of loss, damage, theft, delay, mistaken address (mail or electronic), typographic or printing error, technical, electronic, or telephonic malfunction or impairment, or costs associated with the submission of any work.

Subsequent to submission, the work may not be replaced by another.

General Regulations

MKPCL’s decision to grant the Prize to any work is final and is not subject to review.

Recipients of the Prize may not apply for the same prize within a seven (7) year period.

In the case a grantee rejects the Prize, MKPCL is free of any obligation toward same.

In the case an awarded work is found to be plagiarized, the author(s) must return the award to the MKPCL.
